TRINITY LOSES TO STORRS.

Team Shows Best Form of Season.

Trinity dropped a hard fought game to Connecticut Aggies at Storrs on Saturday afternoon, the final count being 4 to 0. The game was a pitchers' battle from start to finish, but costly errors behind Shepard robbed him of a well earned victory. Sawin, the Aggie twirler, pitched fine ball, but Shepard pitched better. The Trinity team played big league ball with the exception of Reynolds who had a bad day on first, contributing the only three errors of the game. The game as a whole was fast and clean. However, an unfortunate altercation stopped the play for a few minutes in the seventh when a Storrs' man, endeavoring to score, collided with Nordlund.

Cram the first man up fanned but Nichols drove out a neat single and went to second on Lynch's sacrifice. He went to third on a passed ball, Sawin didn't like the looks of Shepard and passed him. Racine fanned,

TRINITY TO MEET WESLEYAN ON FRIDAY

OLD RIVALS MEET FOR FIRST GAME OF SERIES ON TRINITY FIELD.

The game which was scheduled for last Wednesday having been postponed on account of rain, our team will clash with the Wesleyan nine on Trinity Field, on Friday afternoon, May 30, for the first game of the Trinity-Wesleyan series. A second game has been arranged for the second week in June.

Captain Lynch will lead the Trinity men in the coming contest. He is playing a good game in the outfield, and has a good batting average. Shepard will twirl for Trinity against Wesleyan. Nordlund will do the receiving, and Reynolds, alternate pitcher, will hold down first base. Racine has been released from probation by the faculty, and will cover second base. The appearance of Racine in the infield greatly strengthens that part of the defense, for Coach Burns has been able to move Cram over to shortstop and shift Nichols to third base. Bruce in right field and Curtis in the left garden completes the Blue and Gold nine.

Both teams have been greatly hampered last week by the lack of practice. With a steady rain since Tuesday, neither team was able to get in any practice on the field during the remainder of the week.

Trinity has a contest scheduled with Worcester Tech in Hartford for the day following the Wesleyan game, and on Saturday, June 7, will meet Amherst at Amherst. Middlebury comes to Hartford on Saturday, June 14. A game with Middlebury on the latter's grounds, scheduled for earlier in the season, was cancelled because of a fall of snow in northern Vermont.

the third strike being called by the umpire. A base on balls, an error by Reynolds, a sacrifice and an infield grounder gave Storrs two tallies in the last half of the first frame.

Bruce got to second in the second inning as the result of a hit and a wild throw. Cram got to second in the third, but was picked off by the pitcher. Reynolds got to second on a two-bagger, the only extra-base hit of the game, in the fifth. Although

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

The next issue of "The Tripod" will be a special Commencement number, appearing June 24.

As soon as it is possible to secure a picture of the new sundial, the "Tripod" will print it. (The new sundial, of course, the one at the north end of the campus.) Since its erection last month, weather conditions have been such as to warrant a photograph impractical. This sundial has attracted a great deal of attention. People interested in sundials have come many miles to see it. The "Tripod" is planning to start a fund very soon, with which we will build another and larger sundial at the corner of the athletic field to complete the triangle. We hope to surpass even this one in artistic beauty, that is, if such a thing is conceivable.

There is one thing we can not help commenting upon. That is the marked increase in punctuality at chapel exercises. Dr. McCook thinks that the boys have put a little "ginger" into their religion. But we have gone quite deeply into the matter, and we find that the cause of this strange occurrence may be traced directly to the new sundial. An innocent freshman thought it might also explain the presence of five members of the faculty in chapel Saturday morning. But we were not willing to go that far, especially in view of the fact that exams are coming in a couple of weeks.

COMMUNICATION.

Editor of "The Tripod":

Will you kindly print in an early issue the following notice with reference to '94?

"'94's Twenty-fifth Anniversary is due to be celebrated in June. The World War is over, and presumably those of our number who have been engaged in United States Service will have returned by June, except Walter Schutz and Fred Weed.

This is an occasion when we should properly signalize the event, so let's get together even at the expense of making some personal sacrifice, as we want to see you, and without you this Reunion is not going to be the greatest success possible.

President Luther retires from office after June and we want to assure him of our best wishes and offer him the glad hand. Please reserve Saturday, June 21, for our Class Dinner and Reunion. Make your plans to be here yourself and get busy right off urging the attendance of others in the Class. Please write that you expect to attend."

Very truly yours,

E. S. ALLEN,
Class Secretary.

PROFESSOR HODOUS LECTURES ON CHINA.

Last Meeting of Political Science Club for the Year.

Professor Lewis Hodous delivered a very interesting lecture on "The New Forces in China", in the Public Speaking Room, last Thursday evening. This was the last of a series of such events conducted under the auspices of the Political Science Club. Dr. John J. McCook introduced the speaker of the evening.

Professor Hodous at once set out to impress upon his audience the greatness of the changes which have taken and are taking place in China. "When the oriental makes up his mind to change the form of his government, he does not do it lightly. The Chinese realized that their civilization was tottering, and that it was necessary to adopt the new civilization, that of the Western World. It is a significant fact that periods of efficient government have invariably been followed by chaos and internal strife. The periodicity of dynasties is characteristic of Chinese history. The disintegration, the ultimate result of which was the recent revolution, began in 1796, when the Lung dynasty fell. The immediate result was the establishment of the regime of Manchu rule. The Manchus, a northern race, not essentially Chinese, conquered the Empire, and set up their rule. It is a remarkable faculty of the Chinese, however, that they are able to assimilate foreign population with amazing rapidity. This was the case on this occasion, and today, the Manchus are almost entirely Chinese. Indeed, the yellow stripe, in the flag of the Republic is representative of the Manchu portion of the country.

"Probably the greatest force in modernizing the Chinese was the Chino-Japanese War of 1894-95. Defeat at the hands of the supposedly weak Island Kingdom was a severe blow, but it aroused the national spirit which is the basis of all progress.

"In this growth of nationalism we find the first cause for the radical changes of the last 25 years. The actual revolution broke out in the midst of reforms attempted by the tottering Manchu dynasty. But it was too late and the people took matters in their own hands. The revolution was a remarkably spontaneous outbreak. Although it was very commonly jeered at by foreign nations, it was nevertheless successful. Weak, unequipped forces defeated the trained armies of the infant emperor by their sheer invincibility of spirit.

"The second great force is the growth of individualism. Under the ancient and antiquated governmental system, the peasant had no opportunity to work for himself and none to develop initiative. Now all is changed. This is due to the growth of means of communication, the press, to the growth of education and to the work of the missions.

"The Chinese have the national spirit to be a great nation; they are developing the necessary individualistic training. All they lack is the organization."

The last of the Y. M. C. A. vesper services for this year, was held in the college chapel, Sunday afternoon at five o'clock. The service was conducted by S. H. Edsall, '15, and Dr. Luther was the speaker.
